Definition: Professional studies courses are those with architectural content required of all students in the NAAB-accredited program and are the core of a professional degree program that leads to licensure. Knowledge from these courses is used to satisfy Condition 3-Program and Student Criteria.

Faculty-to-student ratios are calculated as the total number of full-time-equivalent faculty teaching the total number of full-time-equivalent students enrolled in the program (for program faculty to student ratio) or in the classes (such as professional courses).

The ratio for professional studies courses should include all courses in the program, including studio courses. The ratio for studio courses is a sub-set of professional studies courses.

SECTION 6: STUDENT/GRADUATE ACHIEVEMENT

2024 Annual Report (Bachelor of Architecture) : Annual Report : SECTION 6: STUDENT/GRADUATE ACHIEVEMENT

To complete this section, please review the data below and update the information as needed for the 2024 Annual Report.

1. Retention rate

Instructions: To calculate the retention rate, enter the total number of students newly enrolled in the program during the prior academic year (A). Then enter the total number of these students who returned the second year (B). The retention rate in the program is B÷A.

Total number of students newly enrolled in the program during the prior academic year (2022-2023) (A):

Total number of students newly enrolled in the program during the prior academic year who returned the second year (2023-2024) (B):

> 118

Optional: Additional information regarding retention rate (for example, explain if the program is a one-year or a transitioning program):

Total retention rate in program (B÷A):

> 94%

2. Graduation rate by track

Definitions: Advertised program length is the amount of time necessary for a student to complete all requirements for a degree or certificate, according to the institution s catalog.

The graduation rate should be calculated separately for each track if tracks have different advertised program lengths. Programs should work backward from the reporting year to identify the entering semester of the cohort graduating at 150% of the advertised program length at the end of the reporting year. For this same cohort, the graduation rate should also be calculated for students who graduated in 100% of the advertised program length. Programs should not report graduation rate data until a cohort has reached 150% of the advertised program length. At that time, the program will report the graduation rate for students from the entering cohort who graduated in 100% and 150% of the advertised program length.*

For example, in a two-year track, students graduating in 100% of program length would have graduated in two years and students graduating in 150% of advertised program length would have graduated in three years. Therefore, subtract three years from the reporting year to find the entering cohort for the graduation rate question.

To calculate 150% of program length, multiply the advertised program length by 1.5. If this results in a decimal, round up. For example, students graduating in 150% of the advertised program length for a five-year program would graduate within eight years (5 X 1.5 = 7.5, round to 8 years).

Example: Fifty (50) students entered a two-year program in fall 2021 (2021-2022 academic year). 25 (50%) of those students graduated in two years, in 2024 (100% of program length). An additional 15 students graduated in 2025 (150% of program length), bringing the graduation rate to 80%.

E1. (If yes): E1. Describe any significant and material changes to the program's physical resources and its ability to safely and equitably support the program's pedagogical approach and student and faculty achievement.

Over the summer of 2024, NJIT renovated spaces used by NJSOA on the 5th floor of Campbell Hall, the 5th and 2nd floor of Weston Hall, and in spaces in the NJIT Student Mall. This increased the number of studio spaces used by the program. In addition, NJIT purchased new desks that allow for higher utilization of space and greater flexibility. More renovations are planned for the summer of 2025.

Based on student polling, we are also piloting flexible studio space scheduling for those students who have expressed a preference to work at home, in and office, or elsewhere outside of scheduled studio hours. This will allow better utilization of the space we currently have and meet the desires of a portion of our upper-level student body who prefer a mix of instructional modalities during the week. We believe this will effectively free up more space to be available to those students who prefer to be in the building during a greater portion of the week.

F: Financial Resources

Instructions: Select the choice that best describes whether or not the program has significant and material changes to the program's institutional support and financial resources that would impact the program's ability to support student learning and achievement during the next term of accreditation.
