ARCHITECTURE FACULTY

Full time and adjunct faculty are being sought for New Jersey's new school of architecture. Initial faculty must be concerned and experienced in a comprehensive approach to problem solving. Team teaching will be basic, requiring collective expertise in all aspects of a professional program involving not only architecture but also the allied disciplines of planning, landscape architecture, urban design, interiors, industrial design, graphic design and the social and behavioral sciences. In an atmosphere free of traditional constraints, faculty, administration and students will develop together the new school's undergraduate program. Contact Dean Harlyn Thompson, School of Architecture, Newark College of Engineering, Newark, New Jersey 07102 (201) 645-5541. An equal opportunity employer.
